

New Designs - Huggable Handfuls!

And yes, they are a handful! Fitting exactly in the curve of the palm of your hand, "Huggable Handfuls" are a handful indeed. For those of you who have purchased my bears in the past, you know how I like to weight them. These are weighted to perfection with steel shot and feel oh, so good in your hand. Plus, they are the perfect size (most 5 or 6 inches without ears) and make fabulous traveling companions. And the good thing is that when they travel, not only do they not take up much room but they also don't eat much (a little nibble of some toast and honey along with a sip of tea is all they ask). Watch for their debut at the Timonium show on April 5th. You can catch a glimpse of some of the new characters in this series by visiting my "Available" link.
